Lisbon, July 1.

AN Accident lately happened here, which at firſt made ſome noiſe, as if the Infanta had been Poyſoned; the occaſion was this, Part of a roſted Pullet, which was taken from the Infanta's Table, being eaten by the wife of one of her Officers, ſhe was preſently after taken very ill with a Colique, and tho' ſhe was ſoon recovered by the remedies applyed to her, yet the great tenderneſs people here have for their Prince, and particularly for the Infanta, whoſe Royal virtues are admired by all, made them go and acquaint the Judge de l'Inconſidentia therewith, that he might examine whither the Pullet had not been Poyſoned; but the thing having been throughly ſearched into, their fears vaniſhed, for it appeared that the Infanta who had eaten of the ſame Pullet had not been ſince in the leaſt indiſpoſed, and the Phyſitians were of opinion that the illneſs of the Officers wife was a naturall diſtemper.

Several Merchant Ships and ſix Fregats with a Fireſhip, which were fitted out at Conningsberg, are Sailed from thence, the Commander in chief being charged not to open his orders till he was ſeveral Leagues at Sea; ſo that the deſign of this Expedition is not known. We are very much concerned here at the French Proceedings in the Palatinate. Our Elector at the Inſtance of the Deputies of Maegdebourg and Hall has put off his Journey thither till October.
